Lesson Thirty-Two: Parting Thoughts

1 Corinthians 16:1-24

As we wrap up this study, some final questions to ponder as we look back on what we have studied.

What things did you learn from 1 Corinthians that you might not have known before?

Was there anything that God used in 1 Corinthians to correct your thoughts and actions? Was there any sin in your life that God's Word opened your eyes to? Have you repented of that sin?

What things in 1 Corinthians encouraged you? How will this encouragement go with you going forward?

What did you learn about the importance of the body of Christ?

What did you learn about how to interact within the body of Christ?

What lessons can you glean from the example of the people of Corinth?

What do we see about the importance of fellowship with other believers, both those near and those far off?

What warnings have sobered you from our study in 1 Corinthians?

What instructions for practical, daily living have you found in 1 Corinthians?

As you spend time with God today, thank God for His Word. His Word IS living and active, and it is also sufficient for all that we need for our lives. Thank Him for giving you ears to hear what He has given us in His Word.

Ask God to help you to take these lessons and to meditate on them. Ask Him to help you to take these things seriously, to examine yourself in light of His Word always, to be careful to obey and honor God in all that you do. Ask Him to help you to submit to His will, to be grateful for His discipline that brings you back in line with Him, and to praise Him despite your circumstances.

Ask Him to help you not to rely on yourself or your own strength or power, but ask Him to help you to truly rest in Him daily, not looking for reasons to boast in yourself but delighted to boast in your Savior. Cling to Christ, ladies; He has defeated death and the only hope for eternity lies with Him!
