

“Letters to the Corinthians” Study Notes

©Naomi’s Table. All Rights Reserved.

Overview

Okay, today is the easy day on notes. (Don’t get used to it...ha!) As we prepare to jump into this study on 1 Corinthians, take some time today and sit down and read through the first chapter of Corinthians.

As you do so, consider the tone of the letter, and the way that Paul starts off as he greets these believers. As you see how quickly he jumps in to correction, consider why this was the first issue that Paul addresses with these people.

Then, spend some time in prayer today, asking God to help you to see, in your own life, what potential sources of division may exist or may potentially exist.

Ask God to prepare your heart to study this book, and to help you to keep your mind continually focused on Christ, on His power to save, and on the wisdom that is only found in the Word of God.

Beth Seifert

Naomi’s Table Bible Teacher

Note: Print these study guides and use a notebook or journal to write about what you’ve found in Scripture for each of the questions. While free to download and distribute, please respect the original copyright and author by not altering text or removing the graphics.

Thank you, and may the Lord bless you as you study His Word,

Amy Spreeman

Naomi’s Table